TRU's Indigenous Education Centre

Currently under construction, TRU Kamloops Indigenous Education Centre is set to be a hub for cultural celebration, academic support, and community connection for Indigenous learners, faculty, and staff.

"Reach out. Cplul'kw'ten is a wonderful place to get support. University is a completely different social culture than we are used to. I was so confused when I first started at TRU, but after going to Cplul'kw'ten I was able to register for classes and find my way around the campus. Keep in touch with your culture. Our hearts and spirits are tied to our culture and when we nurture them, our minds are also nurtured. Our culture keeps us grounded."

FUNDING OPTIONS FOR INDIGENOUS STUDENTS

There are many avenues for funding your education. Some Indigenous students are eligible to receive support from their band or other organizations to pay for post-secondary education.

Sponsorship

Confirm the process your Nation follows for post-secondary funding, then connect with us. Contact your band, Métis or other organization for information regarding the application process. You will need to submit a Consent to Release Personal Information Form (Third Party) so your sponsor has access to your TRU information. Your sponsor will need to submit the TRU Sponsorship Application form before your registration date, otherwise you will have to pay the necessary commitment fee to complete your registration. It will take approximately two weeks for TRU to set up your tuition sponsorship contract. It is your responsibility to ensure your sponsor receives your course registration data form, which is their invoice for your costs.

Possible funding sources for Indigenous students in Undergraduate Degree programs

- Band funding
- Métis funding
- Scholarships and awards
- External sources (eg. Indspire, Irving K. Barber Award, New Relationship Trust (BC First Nations))
- Student aid

Talk to our Qelmúcw (Indigenous) Future Student Advisors for more information, or if you are interested in diploma or certificate programs, as funding schedules may differ.
